LONDON, Aug. 9 (AP)—Canadian armor and infantrymen smashed through the German's second defense line to a point 15 miles below Caen today, and the Berlin radio declared U. S. troops had both broken into Le Mans, 110 miles southwest of Paris, and plunged inland past the city on the south.

Americans drove into Le Mans, a big road and rail junction, engaging in heavy battles, German broadcasts said, and other formations cut below the city, then sought to push east and southeast. (Other details on Page 2.)

Canadians in 10-Mi. Gain

By the Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 9—A Canadian offensive, surging more than 10 miles below Caen, smashed the Germans' second defense line guarding the road to Paris today, and the German high command said Americans had broken into Le Mans, 110 miles southwest of the French capital.

Leading Canadian elements speared down the highway from Caen to within five miles of Falaise, highway junction 110 miles due west of Paris, a front dispatch declared.

Falaise is only 65 miles north of Le Mans. The Allied wings thus were curling around the ends of the main German front bulging into Normandy, toward the base of Breton peninsula.

HUNDREDS OF PRISONERS

Canadians, fighting one of the decisive battles of western France, had plunged more than 10 miles in 36 hours down the Caen-Falaise highway from jumping-off points, taking hundreds of prisoners and at least half a dozen towns.

The British on the Canadian left also smashed ahead, threatening to trap sizeable German forces battling in the wedge between the Orne and Laize rivers.

American tanks and infantry farther south were driving east on a 50-mile front. The German high command's communique acknowledged a penetration into Le Mans in bitter fighting.

German armor was being thrown into the attempt to stem the U. S. tide paris-bound, Berlin broadcasts said.

Berlin also asserted Americans had reached the Loire river, extending the Allied line to the south.

100 U-BOATS ESCAPE?

American troops were mopping up the Breton peninsula, but the Germans still held the five ports of Brest, Lorient, St. Nazaire, St. Malo and Nantes.

Supreme headquarters said the bulk of approximately 100 submarines which the Nazis were reported to have in Brittany were believed to have escaped.

Lt. Gen. Bradley's columns fought in the autskirts of St. Malo on the north coast. The siege was in its fourth day. Headquarters reported the Americans four miles from Brest and five from Lorient.

The British Second Army punched into central German defenses between Vire and Thury-Harcourt, capturing Le Plessis-Grimoult, 19 miles southwest of Caen.

Just north of Thury-Harcourt, tank-supported British infantry beat off strong German counter-attacks seeking to wipe out the Grimbosq bridgehead. With reinforcements, the Tommies strengthened their hold along the east bank of the Orne river and the fringes of the Grimbosq forest, 11 miles southwest of Caen.

YANKS NEAR 2 PORTS

The forward line of the Canadian First Army still was rolling toward Falaisee, birthplace of William the Conqueror.

Supreme headquarters gave no new information on drives for St. Nazaire and Nantes. U. S. units are known to be within 12 miles of each.

(The German radio reported a fierce battle for Lorient and said the Germans have "withdrawn closer to the fortress itself.")

Further indications were the Germans virtually were abandoning southern France to scrape together forces for defense of the Loire river line. From Spain came word a second trainload of guns and other equipment en route north from the Bayonne defenses, 275 miles south of the Loire, had been wrecked by the French Maquis.

Prime Minister Churchill visited the Normandy battlefront again yesterday and talked to Gen. Montgomery and Gen. Bradley.

Report Von Papen Under Arrest

ISTANBUL, Aug. 9 (AP)—Franz von Papen, former German ambassador to Turkey, was arrested as soon as he entered Germany yesterday on his return from Ankara, an official of an international bank here reported last night. The bank official, a personal friend of Von Papen, received no details of the arrest.

Britain Hears, Doubts Good Himmler News

LONDON, Aug. 9 (AP)—British officials said today they had found nothing concrete to confirm that Heinrich Himmler had been assassinated, as related by a German army intelligence officer captured by Britons in France.

"This appears to be a rumor current among soldiers, but too many details are lacking—such as the time Himmler is supposed to have been killed—to let us put much credence in it," one official said.

LONDON, Aug. 9 (INS)—Nazi Field Marshal Karl Gerd von Rundstedt, former German commander on the western front, reportedly has arrived in Lisbon with a considerable quantity of gold, the diplomatic writer of the London Evening News, said today.

U. S. Bombs Rip German 'Detroit'

LONDON, Aug. 9 (AP)—More than 1000 U. S. heavy bombers and fighters attacked objectives around Stuttgart, the "Detroit of Germany," today and Berlin reported another fleet was striking at Hungary from Italian bases.

Single Jap Victory

By J. B. KRUEGER
Associated Press War Editor

Japan has broken her steady string of defeats in the Pacific, Burma and India with capture of Hengyang, vital Chinese city from which the Japs can drive south to split China in two. Chungking received a message from Hengyang's garrison commander saying his Chinese troops, who had clung doggedly to the surrounded city for six weeks, had been slain almost to the last man.

CHINA—While losing on all other fronts, Japs score big gain in China, capturing Hengyang, important city on the (1) Peiping, (2) Hankow and (3) Canton railroad. Capture opens way for Japs to drive south to cut China in two, and providing a land supply route for enemy armies.

"I am afraid this may be my last message to you," he added.

This most important Jap victory in China since 1938 cleared most of the way for Nippons army to close a 170-mile Chinese-held gap on the Canton-Hankow-Peiping railroad. The 1000-mile line could serve two purposes: to seal off coastal China from the Allies gathering to the west and to provide a land supply route supplementing diminishing sea communications.

5 GENERALS DIE FIGHTING

Five Chinese generals apparently remained with the last survivors of the heroic Hengyang garrison, composed principally of Cantonese troops, when the Japs broke into the city.

The generals in a farewell message to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, sent on Tuesday night just before radio contact with Hengyang was broken, said they intended to stay with their troops and die fighting.

Nowhere else did Japan have the upper hand. Extermination of the last Jap was in full swing on Guam, now after two years reclaimed by U. S. forces under Adm. Nimitz. Warships and planes poured explosives on Jap remnanas trapped in a 15-square-mile area of northern Guam, while Marines and soldiers drove wedges in their lines to hack the mto pieces.

More than 10,000 enemy dead have been counted. The island, third of the Marianas group to fall, has been in American use for several days. Only the clean-up, bloody as it may be, remains.

NEW GUINEA GAINS

In the New Guinea area Gen. MacArthur's airmen cut down Jap air strength at Halmaherea, stepping stone to the Philippines, in a 48-ton raid wiping out 13 grounded planes and damaging many others.

On New Guinea American troops split trapped Japanese units into three segments. This operation, beginning July 10, has cost the Japs 4000 to 9000 men and apparently has foiled their attempt to break free of the trap near Aitape.

Airmen from the Nimitz and MacArthur theaters raided Yap in the Carolines; Nauru, important phosphate-producing island; Paramushiro in the Kuriles justs north of Japan, and Wake.

Reds Close in on 300,000 Foe

By DANIEL DE LUCE

MOSCOW, Aug. 9 (AP)—The Red Army tightened a noose today around German Baltic forces once estimated at more than 20 divisions—between 250,000 and 300,000 men—and smashed a deeper wedge through Poland toward German Silesia, west of the Vistula.

Three Soviet columns pressed on Riga from the West, South and East for possibly the biggest kill of the summer campaign. Heavily armored enemy units fell back upon the Latvian capital, their offensive thrusts shattered by Gen. Ivan C. Bagramian's right wing.

The Soviet High Command announced that enemy forces are being "bled white" and "our troops are stubbornly advancing" against German reserve divisions thrown into desperate counterattacks in nearly every sector of the front to keep the Russian hordes from German soil. A communique supplement said all were repulsed.

The communique also announced a six-mile northward thrust on the Vistula bridgehead, a drive that may be pointed at Warsaw from the South, and an advance to within 33 miles of the Czechoslovakian border.

The Russians said the Germans are hurling "even road-building, airdrome and other rear detachments" into battle. It was reported 16 new German divisions have reached the front, some from Central Germany reserves, others from Western Poland, Italy, Yugoslavia, Hungary and Norway.

It was not disclosed where the German counterattacks have occurred but it could be assumed that at least part were aimed at keeping the Red Army from leaping forward the few miles needed to reach the soil of East Prussia.

Front advices said there was reason to believe one of the biggest encirclements of the summer campaign was gaining new momentum. Thousands of German soldiers strung out in the vast spaces from the Gulf of Riga to the southern shores of Lake Peipus were reported being driven back to the Baltic in a battle of extermination.

Allies in Italy Win Back Towns

ROME, Aug. 9 (AP)—Allied headquarters announced today Eighth Army troops have recaptured Monte Grillo, nine miles north of Arezzo and west of Highway 71, which was lost in a German counter-attack Sunday.

The Allies also won another hill west of Pontassieve. Other heavy fighting occurred in the upper Arno valley. The Florence sector remained quiet.

Heavy bombers from Russian bases yesterday attacked targets in the Ploesti area of Romania and landed in Italy. The MAAF also bombed supply lines in northern Italy and southern France.

The Life Story of A. Thomas Cat 'From Alley to Riches'

By ALICE BISSELL AND STANLEY CHIPMAN

This is the rags to riches story of A. Thomas Cat—known to his friends as "Buster" but certainly entitled to a more ritzy title these days.

"Buster," the richest cat in America, heir to the fortune of the late Woodbury Rand, Brookline attorney, is in fact an ex-alley cat, a rags-to-riches feline once doomed to die in kittenhood at the Animal Rescue League.

He still prefers a coal bin to a nice clean rug and he makes no bones of clawing human sycophants who rub his fur the wrong way.

The cold hard facts about Buster, nee A. (for Alley) Thomas Cat, were disclosed today by Mrs. Margaret T. Thomson, his guardian and formerly Atty. Rand's housekeeper, at the Rand home, Clark rd.

Once Bedraggled Kitten

Rand, she explained, has always given money to organizations dedicated to the welfare of animals. One day, eight years ago, he went to the Animal Rescue League to discuss a donation he had in mind.

"He saw a terribly bedraggled kitten there," Mrs. Thomson related. "It had been picked up somewhere. It was dirty, underfed and just as miserable as one could imagine. It was to be destroyed as a humane measure.

"Mr. Rand pitied it. He brought it home. And that's when Buster's life story really began.

"I would like to say," she added, "Buster doesn't sleep on purple velvet cushions, wear diamonds or lives on hummingbirds' wings. Scores of letters have come here from men and women who seem to think so."

Mrs. Thomson, whose sense of humor at the excitement over Busterceaused her to burn the letters and forget the, considers him a pretty normal cat—although fate has destined him never to be a father. He is a tomcat without portfolio.

Refuses Film Contract

A motion picture company has offered a large sum of money for permission to make "an intimate film" of Buster's daily routine.

But it was turned down because Buster's nerves are still slightly ragged a the result of attention drawn to him. Motorists often slow down when passing the house, hoping to glimpse the cat with the estimated $100,000 bank account.

Strangers ring the doorbell and boldly ask to see him. Telephone callers give their opinion of the situation.

But Buster goes his way. His master had brought him up to act like a regular cat and habit prevails with him.

Once he had a narrow escape. He ran away, headed for the railroad tracks and was just about to dart under a locomotive when Mrs. Thomson rescued him. To this day, she said, he winces at the sound of an engine whistle.

It has never been possible to break Buster of his love for coal bins. When he is plucked from his revels among the lumps, Mrs. Thomson puts him in the kitchen sink and usese soap and water.

"He doesn't enjoy it and I don't enjoy it, but it has to be done," she said.

Soon after Rand brought him home as a kitten, Buster evinced

Other Resorts Snub Harwich Campaign

HARWICH, Aug. 9—"Everybody here's seen Kelley," was the password among summer residents today as town officials reported "definite improvement" in the campaign, directed by Sgt. Isaiah Kelley, to get vacationists to put on more clothes.

The Harwich drive to keep men and women and boys and girls in scanty bathing attire out of the town's business section appeared to be making headway, officials said.

But state police at neighboring Orleans would have no part of it. Neither would the minions of the law in other Cape communities.

"We just look the other way," a state trooper said.

Harwich authorities, however, hailed their decency drive as a success.

"People are taknig it in the right spirit," Sgt. Kelley said. "We don't bother them at the beach. All we want them to do is when they come to the business section is to wear more clothing.

Well, Sol Lesser started a film called "Three is a Family." First, Hattie McDaniel, the Negro character actress, announced she was expecting her first baby in the fall.

Then Mrs. Arthur Lake, wife of the leading man, said she was due for motherhood by early winter. Then Henry and Phoebe Ephron, who wrote the screen play, became parents of a baby girl.

And yesterday Cindy, a cat that had been hanging around the set, gave birth to three kittens.

Cult Data Given To Draft Board

Accounts of experiences of a dishonorably discharged 19-year-old sailor with an exotic cult in which high ranking Navy officers were involved and which used lavish suites in two Back Bay hotels were in the possession of a Boston draft board today.

A detailed story of the youth's experiences was presented by him at a hearing before the board last night.

At least two high ranking officers are understood to be involved in several instances to which the youth testified and 10 other commissioned officers are reportedly mixed up with the case.

The name of an enlisted man, who is understood to have escorted fellow service men to meetings of the cult, also is believed to be in the possession of the local board.

A complete and detailed report of at least this one youth's story is expected to be prepared by the board and turned over to state selective service authorities.

The youth's case was investigated by the board after his parents complained they were unable to learn the reason for his dishonorable discharge.

It is understood he was discharged dishonorably after he signed a statement for a Navy doctor, to whom he had reported his experiences with the cult.

Dewey Choice Hits Radicals

ALBANY, Aug. 9 (INS)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey resumed campaign conferences with out-of-state Republican congressional delegations today after setting in motion machinery designed to place the 47 electoral votes of his home state in the GOP column next November.

The Republican presidential nominee was to confer today with Gov. Walter E. Edge of New Jersey and the Republican congressional group from that state. He will also talk with Charles M. Deyo, Republican candidate for Governor of New Hampshire.

Gov. Dewey yesterday brought about the nomination of a candidate for U. S. Senator best calculated to help the Dewey-Bricker ticket. He is Secretary of State Thomas J. Curran, 46-year-old chairman of the New York County Republican Committee.

Curran, prominent in Catholic activities, will oppose the veteran Sen. Robert F. Wagner, Democrat, who has sponsored some of the chief labor measures of the Roosevelt Administration.

Republican leaders hope Curran can cut into Wagner's New York City strength, while they roll up the normal upstate Republican majority.

The GOP senatorial nominee, a veteran of the last World War and an able platform speaker, indicated that he will emphasize the alleged domination of the Democratic party by the Communists and Left-Wingers.

Curran said the Republicans are not so much opposed to the Democratic party, "as we have known it," but to the "Browders, the Hillmans and the leaders of the Political Action Committee, who will do everything possible to change the constitutional form of our government as we have known it since infancy."

The Hancock county crop was estimated at one-third to one-half of normal, with damage due mostly to the army worm.

1-Man-Army Home, Broke, But Medaled

SPRING MOUNT, Pa., Aug. 9 (AP)—The "one man army of Anzio, and his mom are together again today, and "the army" is broke but happy. PFC Alton W. Knappenberger, the 20-year-old, 120-pound, fivefoot-fourinch country boy who blasted 60 Nazis to their doom, held off two attacking German infantry companies and won the Congressional Medal of Honor, arrived on an unannounced furlough last night and so surprised his mom and step-father, Harvey Seibert, that Mrs. Seibert burst into tears when he walked into their modest home.

ALTON W. KNAPPENBERGER
"One-Man Army" Home Again

The "Army" had only $20 to his name, to see him through a 22-day vacation.

"I'd saved up $150," he said, "and I wouldn't even spend a nickel of it when they let me go to see Napies, on account of this furlough coming up.

"Then while I was in Naples a pickpocket took it all. The people there are pretty hard up.

"I've thought some of cashing in a war bond, but I guess I haven't got the heart to do it."

Knappenberger is plenty glad to be home.

"I don't like to fight," he said. 'But I guess the worst darned ordeal was when I got this medal.'

He pointed to the nation's highest heroism award, which he'd already given to mom.

"I had to stand there while Gen. Clark presented it and I'd almost rather fight.'

Knappenberger was ordered to retreat with the remnants of his battered company when the Nazis attacked on Anzio—but he decdied against it.

While his comrades moved to the rear, he covered them with steady bursts of fire that bowled over lines of Nazi soldiers until he ran out of ammunition.

Then he moved back, took more ammunition from the body of a fallen American, and resumed the battle. When he finally withdrew, the Army officially credited him with 60 enemy dead.

He's a PFC, but he wasn't wearing his single stripe when his train pulled in last night.

Only a reporter was there to greet him—the town hadn't heard he was en route.

The village has heard now, however, and a community celebration is planned.

Flier Home From Pacific, Sees Baby Girl First Time

Home after 22 months of action with an air squadron in the South Pacific, 1 Sgt. Clayton M. Westhaver was reunited today with his Hawaii-born wife and saw baby daughter for the first time.

Westhaver and his wife, Margaret, who went through the horror of the Jap sneak attack on Pearl Harbor together, were separated just 23 days before their daughter, Claire, was born in Honolulu.

White Westhaver, in charge of his squadron's ground crew, was seeing action in Guadalcanal and the northern Solomons, his wife and baby daughter made their way to the mainland and across the country to Boston, to make their home with his mother, Mrs. Catherine Westhaver of Acton st.

Westhaver enlisted in the Army in 1939 and was sent to Hawaii, where he met and won his bride. He served three years on the islands and went into action in the South Pacific with the 13th Air Force almost two years ago.

He's happy to be home and delighted at his first sight of his chubby, golden-haired baby daughter.

But he's anxious to get back and finish the job so he and his little family can journey back to Hawaii and spend the rest of their lives on the beautiful Pacific island.

He's proud of his squadron, and boasts of its record—the highest score in the Pacific, with 164 enemy planes to its credit when he left on furlough two weeks ago.

Proctor Upholds Vermont Habit

MONTPELIER, Vt., Aug. 9 (AP)—In nominating Mortimer R. Proctor for Governor, Vermont's staunch Republicans apparently have heaped tradition upon tradition.

The state usually has voted Republican, and through much of its history a Proctor has been active in public life.

By his victory in yesterday's primary, the present lieutenant-governor virtually was assured of occupying the gubernatorial chair father once sat.

The unofficial tabulation from 245 of the state's 246 cities and towns gave Proctor 22,588 votes to 13,371 for W. Arthur Simpson, former state director of old age assistance, in one of the lightest balloting primaries in decades.

Dr. Ernest H. Bailey, who was nominated without opposition, will oppose Proctor in November.

U. S. Senator George D. Aiken and U. S. Representative Charles A. Plumley, both Republicans, were renominated. They will be opposed, respectively, by Harry W. Witters and Robert W. Ready, Democrats.

Montreal Vote Hits War Policy

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 9 (AP)—The voters of Quebec Province, predominantly French and comprising almost one-third of the population of Canada, were on record today with an indirect protest against the war policies of the Dominion government of Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King.

They declined, however, to endorse the ultra-nationalist view that the war is none of Canada's business.

In the closest general election in the history of the province, former Premier Maurice Duplessis, who campaigned against "federal interference" in Quebec's affairs, apparently was returned to power, overthrowing Premier Adelard Godbout.

JON HALL . . . IN FIRST PHOTO SINCE FIGHT
Beaten Actor Says Knives, Bottles Used by Assailants

Hall's Blow-by-Blow Story of That Brawl

By JAMES MURRAY
Special to Boston Evening American

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 9—Jon Hall exposed the features of his classic profile to the public gaze for the first time since his epic encounter with Tommy Dorsey, took a deep breath and then asked explosively: "Does that look to YOU as if it were made by a flower pot?"

Across the tip of his carefully molded nose and into the line of his cheek was a razor-slit gash, held together by 16 taut stitches.

Under the chin was a sharp gash—"within an inch of the windpipe," according to Hall.

On the back of the head, covered by the fine, burnished hair of the former swimming star, were two matted clots.

Hall drew himself up to his full 6-foot-2, 204-pound height:

"Could I lick Dorsey in a fair fight? What do you think? But what are you going to do when three or four other guys leap in—with knives? Yes, knives!"

He named the man he says wielded the knife. Asked if he would prosecute, Hall's eyes flashed—like they do when he leaps recklessly upon a battlement and the bandit hordes descend on him 50 at a time—in the movies.

"Maybe I will," he said, "but I'd rather like the whole thing to blow over. Dorsey called me up, said he was sorry about the whole thing, didn't even remember what the brawl was about."

"What'd you tell him?" Hall was asked.

"I just listened."

"What about Smiley Mr. Hall?"

(Allan Smiley, friend of "Bugsy" Siegel, was alleged by Hall to have burst into the Dorsey apartment after the fight started and set about to aid Dorsey; and was further alleged by Edward Norris, film leading man and companion of Hall's, to have aimed kicks in the midst of the melee.)

Hall then gave his version of the affray.

"I returned to the Dorsey apartment to get Miss Jane Churchill's purse. I put my arm on Pat Dane's (Dorsey's wife) shoulder and apologized for disturbing them again. Dorsey called me to the balcony and the first thing I knew we were in a glorious battle.

"I sure hung one on him and then I heard someone shout, 'Call Smiley!' And the next thing I knew, here was this vicious set of guys snarling and pummeling me with a bottle—and I was all blood."

Women Teachers Flay Hub Delinquency Blast

Boston's women school teachers suggested icily today that Alexander M. Sullivan, school business manager, find out what he was talking about before asserting they were incapable of maintaining discipline among wayward children in the primary grades.

At the same time the school committee, before which Sullivan declared that discipline had been reported to him as "terrible," was preparing to make him prove it or withdraw his charge.

Miss Mary M. Facey, a teacher in the John Marshall School, Dorchester, and vice-president of the Boston Elementary Teachers' Ass'n, summed up the indignant reaction of the women primary teachers.

"Mr. Sullivan should have investigated his reports before he made this statement," she said. "If he had done so he would have found an entirely different story and his charges would have been proven false.

GOSSIP SCORED

"There has been entirely too much gossip and hearsay circulating in regard to the schools.

"These derogatory remarks, which in many instances have been publicized, have a bad reaction, not only in the school system, but among the parents as well.

"Why does Mr. Sullivan pick on the women teachers? They are all doing a fine job and certainly those in the first through the sixth grades are deeply interested in the welfare and condition of the children both in the classrooms and outside.

"For that matter, the Boston public school system is as good as any in the country. Our delinquency problem is far less than in other cities of the same size and that can be credited to the fine job the women teachers are doing."

Miss Facey agreed there were isolated cases where children had jumped over the traces, but the wayward ones had proven amenable to discipline or had been weeded out to be given specialized treatment.

COMMITTEE RESENTMUL

Chairman Daniel J. McDevitt also indicated that Sullivan's assertions had not produced a favorable reaction with the school committee.

"Every member of the school committee resnted Mr. Sullivan's statements," McDevitt declared. "We look forward to a conference on this with attendance officers."

The committee will meet in special session within a few days and Joseph C. White, a member, declared that a demand will be made that Sullivan furnish "facts instead of opinions."

"Sullivan gave no proof of his assertion and it is certainly unfair to our women teachers," White declared. "I'm going to see he makes good his charges or withdraw them."

Sullivan had blamed the women teachers for rising delinquency and urged hiring of men in primary schools for maintaining discipline.

He said discipline was particularly bad in the Mary E. Curley Schol, Jamaica Plain, and the Joseph H. Barnes School, East Boston.

28,000 on Strike In U. S., Canada

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four work stoppages accounted for more than two-thirds of approximately 28,000 idle today in labor disputes in the United States and Canada.

These four, involving some 19,000, were:

Five plants of General Motors' gear and axle division, Detroit, 7000; Midwest over-the-road truck drivers in at least four and possibly eight states, an estimated 5000; Wright Aeronautical Corp., three Paterson, N. J., plants, at least 3000; Montreal tramway strike, 4000.

Nine thousand more were idle in 16 other didsputes across the nation.

Latest stoppage was a walkout of 130 toolmakers and grinders at the Dodge Chicago plant, making engines for B-29 Superfortresses in what a company spokesman said was a protest over a three-day suspension of a worker for refusing to take orders.

Settled, however, was a stoppage since July 23 of 500 glass blowers at Ball Bros. plant, Muncie, Ind., an AFL-CIO jurisdictional dispute. They returned to work yesterday.

Grand Jury Acts In Philly Strike

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 9 (AP)—A federal grand jury convened today to investigate the city's recent six-day transit strike while Negro trainees, whose upgrading to drivers' jobs precipitated the strike, prepared to resume training with white operator-trainees.

Armed guards continued to ride every bus, trolley, subway and subway-elevated as the Army studied reports on the 181 employes who failed to show up for work Monday on the first day of restored service.

Transfusions in Operations Seen Big Aid to Surgery

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

CHICAGO, Aug. 9—Surgical operations can now last four to six hours with the patient leaving the operative room in perfectly good condition, thanks to blood transfusions during the operation.

Dr. Warren H. Cole of the University of Illinois College of Medicine says that, although it has been known for three or four decades that blood transfusions were beneficial to a patient under operation, it is only in the past four or five years that the value has been appreciated fully.

This lag was due, he says, to failure of most surgeons to realize how much blood a patient was losing during an operation. The surgeon saw the loss only in small quantities, during the interval between cutting a blood vessel and clamping it against bleeding.

"A study of several reports," Dr. Cole says, "reveals the astounding fact that the average blood lost in removal of a breast for cancer is over 700 cubic centimeters. The loss in brain operations may be still higher. On many occasions in major operations the loss may be as high as 1500 to 2000 cubic centimeters."

The failure to appreciate this, he adds, has been the chief factor in making long, extensive operations impracticable because of the risk of fatal shock.

Under the new practice of restoring the loss immediately as many as five or six transfusions may be given during one surgical operation, totaling two and one-half to three quarts.

The importance of blood lost in an operation can be more fully appreciated by realization of the fact that a healthy, adult body can make for itself less than one ounce of blood in a day over the amount normally destroyed in metabolism.

Surgery, said Dr. Cole, has progressed through two stages and is about to enter a third. The first was the stage of operative techniques and antiseptics, or asepsis. The second, climaxed by the transfusion discoveries, was based on application of knowledge of physiology of the body.

The next step will be the chemical stage, the use of drugs such as sulfas and penicillin to furnish added safeguards.

Canadians Hit By U. S. Bombs

WITH THE CANADIAN FIRST ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 8 (delayed) (AP)—A senior Canadian staff officer told war correspondents today that in this afternoon's heavy raid by American Flying Fortresses and Liberators in support of the Canadian offensive from six to 30 bombs fell short, resulting in casualties to Canadian personnel.

A high command officer was wounded.

Six hundred Fortresses and Liberators participated in the raid, which was directed against German positions in front of the Canadian line.

The staff officer said he did not know to what the accidents were attributed, but strongly emphasized that they had no ill effects upon the offensive itself.

Legionnaires Open Meet Tomorrow

The vanguard of more than 1000 delegates today began descending on Boston from western Bay State communities for tomorrow's opening of the 26th annual convention of the Massachusetts American Legion. They represent a membership of 57,000 legionnaires, largest in the history of the organization.

A score of resolutions vital to post-war rehabilitation and care of the casualties of World War II are to be presented on opening day of the three-day meeting at the Hotel Statler.

Legionnaires are faced with one of the most spirited elections in years, with the office of state commander the chief interest.

Vice-Comdr. William F. Campbell of Wollaston, chief auditor of the registry of motor vehicles, was reported holding important pledges from every county in the state.

Those who oppose him for the post of commander include two other vice-commanders, Thomas F. Mackey of Somerville and Timothy F. McLaughlin of South Boston.

Seeking re-election as vice-commanders are George W. Gardner, South Boston police sergeant, and Tracy A. Dibble of Lynn. They will be opposed by Michael J. Connors, Suffolk County commander; John Manuel of Milford, Worcester county commander; John P. Murray of Chelsea, past Suffolk county commander; Walter A. Slade of Gardner, past Worcester county commander; and John J. Sullivan of Watertown, Middlesex county commander.

Ask Vet Hospital In Western Mass.

SPRINGFIELD, Aug. 9—Delegates to the annual convention of the Massachusetts Federation of Labor resumed business sessions here today.

Delegates passed unanimously a resolution favoring a general veterans' hospital in western Massachusetts, declaring that unless such an institution is built, disabled veterans in the western part of the State must be hospitalized 75 miles from home.

The resolution sought construction of the institution by the Veterans' Administration and asked congressional delegations and state representatives in Massachusetts, Vermont and New Hampshire to support the plan.

The convention was also told by L. Metcalf Walling, national wage-hour administrator, that federal labor legislation is now under attack from a new coalition in Congress.

"This group," Walling said, "has cut appropriations for enforcement of the wage-hour law and has attempted to emasculate it by state action."

Gas Dealers Aid Fake A-11 Hunt

Although thousands of counterfeit A-11 coupons have been closed, the black market today was crumbling on all New England fronts.

In Massachusetts, 3900 gasoline dealers have learned a lesson from the 700 of their brethren who have suffered suspensions and duration revocations and are aiding OPA at every turn, according to Cornelius T. Moynihan, regional enforcement executive.

"They know the heat is on," Moynihan said, "and we are getting almost 100 per cent co-operation. Although the A-11 stamps that go into effect today have been widely counterfeited, dealers and motorists were given warning a week ago and there should be no excuse for being victimized.

"Dealers are co-operating to such extent that they are taking registration numbers of racketeers who try to peddle illegal stamps, and turning them over to us."

At the same time, Regional Administrator Eldon C. Shoup warned that B and C rations are not issued except for essential driving and promised that OPA experts would weed out those who use such gas for pleasure driving.

"Vacation and pleasure driving is going to continue," Shoup said, "but it must be done on A coupons."

Dorchester Sailor Picked Up on Raft

Fire Sweeps 4-Story Roxbury Building

A four-story brick business building in Washington st., Roxbury, was swept by fire of undetermined origin early today causing damage of $10,000.

The blaze broke out in an Army-Navy store on the first floor and spread quickly to the upper stories, occupied by the Larkin and Son Mfg. Co., and the Atlas Garment Co.

Collector's Item

If by some miracle you still have any A-10 gasoline stamps left just paste them in your stamp book—they're only philatelist numbers now.

A-10's expired at midnight and A-11's, also good for three gallons each, now are valid through Nov. 8.

Bossy to Quit Town After Ban by OPA

Newburyport's most famous ex-mayor, Andrew J. "Bossy" Gillis, is going to leave his native city and go "far, far away," as the result of the OPA decision barring him from operating a gasoline station for the duration.

This was the announcement today of Mrs. Gillis, the former Louise Barbaro, who asserted the gas service business was actually hers, although registered in her husband's name.

"Bossy" himself, was not available for comment, but his wife proved a competent family spokesman.

"We haven't been officially notified by the OPA," she said, referring to the ruling of Arthur L. Brown, chief OPA hearing commissioner, finding her husband guilty of black market gasoline operations and accepting counterfeit coupons.

"Like in every other matter, the OPA lets everyone know first about its decisions except the interested parties. We are planning to dispose of our property and move far away.

"My husband recently bought the former jail on High st., and planned to cut it up into apartments, but I'm telling him to get rid of his property, move out of here, and leave the headaches behind."

Under the OPA decree, Gillis is suspended as a gasoline station operator, effective Aug. 30. He was adjudged guilty of accepting 2665 counterfeit IT coupons, 1.. coupons bearing false registrations, and of purchasing 450 TT coupons in the black market.

Reconversion Bill 'Political Setup' Hit

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—Republican protests that the Murray-Kilgore reconversion plan could be used to set up a fat political machine sounded in Congress today. There also was talk of a compromise settlement of the row over federal payments to displaced war workers.

Sen. Ferguson (R.) of Michigan declared "there never was a bigger political opportunity than that created" by one section of the measure providing six months' vocational training for idle workers at government expense, with trainees to be allowed $50 to $100 a month for subsistence.

"The proposed work administrator could select anyone for training at government expense; there would be nothing to prevent the selections from being political," Ferguson told reporters.

But Sen. Wagner (D.) of New York contended that "state bureaucrats" are opposing the Murray-Kilgore measure because they fear federal participation in post-war unemployment benefits would curb their own political power.

Sen. Ferguson and another Republican, Sen. Aiken of Vermont, also said they regard present state compensation scales as inadequate and proposed that a middle ground be found by Congress between them and the $35-a-week rate provided in the federal plan.

Ferguson said he favored a compromise based upon federal payments limited to veterans and workers in war industries, leaving payments to non-war workers to be determined by the states.

The Senate tentatively scheduled a vote tomorrow on the issue. Pending besides the bill of Sens. Murray (D.) of Montana and Kilgore (D.) of West Virginia is the bill of Sen. George (D.) of Georgia to leave unemployment compensation program as it now is, in the hands of the States, while making about 3,500,000 federal workers eligible for benefits at federal expense.

Plan to Save Jews Asks Haven in Zion

By CHARLES ROLAND
Special to Boston Evening American

NEW YORK, Aug. 9—A three-point program to rescue the Jews of Occupied Europe from their Nazi executioners was ready today for submission to the United Nations.

Formulated by the emergency committee to save the Jews of Europe, at its second national conference in the Hotel Commodore, the course of action embraces the following:

1—Establish temporary rescue shelters on Allied soil, particularly in Palestine.

2—Warn the Axis and its satellites of dire personal penalties for any further massacres.

3—Set up the denationalized Jews of occupied areas as a unit, one of the United Nations, with a voice in Allied assemblies.

The committee, with Gabriel A. Wechsler, secretary, and Prof. Johan J. Smertenko, executive vice-chairman, leading the discussions, held the problem can be solved immediately.

LOOK TO U. S., BRITAIN

They urged the United States and Great Britain to point the way, contending that Britain is in the most favored position for the task, because of its mandate over Palestine.

One of the nine resolutions adopted before the conference closed declared:

"Since Palestine is the nearest and the most practical haven for the Balkan Jews, Great Britain should immediately proclaim the establishment of mass emergency rescue shelters in Palestine, especially since the Hebrews of Palestine are ready to receive shelter and feed them."

Peter H. Bergson, head of the Hebrew Committe of National Liberation, said:

"The British government, and I presume Foreign Sec. Anthony Eden, have had for three weeks in their possession an official note from the International Red Cross to the effect that Hitler is willing to release all Jews they will permit to go into Palestine.

"We here are not aware of an answer by the British government."

Resolutions read by Michael Potter included a statement that the plight of 600,000 Jews in Hungary must claim immediate attention.

Governments of neutral as well as United Nations were urged to establish temporary shelters.

OWI facilities to broadcast to Axis satellite countries, urging the underground to keep a record of atrocities, were requested.

With the Red army approaching Germany, Russia was asked to warn Hitler of sure punishment for slaughter of Jews.

The Vatican, in light of recent sympathetic manifestations, was asked to grant international radio time on behalf of the problem.

Link Youth's Killing To Spat With Matron

SALINAS, Cal., Aug. 9 (INS)—Mrs. Frances Andrews, 38, socially prominent heiress, and 19-year-old Jay Lovett who was shot to death near her Mount Carmel Ranch had quarreled on the night of the shooting, the youth's mother said.

Mrs. Andrews, in jail facing a murder charge in connection with the shooting, is awaiting a hearing Aug. 18 on her plea for freedom on bail pending trial.

The handsome ranch hand's mother, Mrs. Robbie Lovett, said her son was supposed to have taken Mrs. Andrews to a movie after having dinner with her on the evening of the shooting, July 15.

Mrs. Lovett, who with her husband operates a ranch near the Andrews ranch, said that on the evening of the tragedy, Mrs. Andrews appeared at the Lovett home and said she was returning a lost dog.

APPEARS ANGRY

But, the mother continued, the attractive socialite wife of an Army corporal was "looking for Jay and appeared "angry" when she did not see him.

Mrs. Lovett said the next time she saw Mrs. Andrews was when she came over to inform the family that she had found young Jay dead on a road 600 yards from her ranch gate.

"We had an argument," Mrs Lovett quoted Mrs. Andrews as saying, "and Jay got awfully mad." Mrs. Andrews expressed the opinion that the youth had committed suicide, the mother declared.

An hour and a half later, Jay's body was found, a bullet from Mrs. Andrews' .25 caliber automatic pistol in his head.

Mrs. Andrews has insisted that the husky, good looking young cowboy killed himself. According to her story to investigators on the night of his death, she had gone to the neighboring ranch of Mrs. Nancy Linde, wife of a San Francisco physician, to ask Lovett if he would attend a sick calf.

She drove the youth back to her ranch, she said, and Lovett departed. A few minutes later, she said she heard a shot and discovered the youth's body.

Dist. Atty. Anthony Brazil clung to his theory that the youth was shot as a result of a jealousy between two women, but declined to name the other woman.

HEALTH QUIZ

	YES	NO
Do you have poor digestion?	☐	☐
Do you feel headachy after eating?	☐	☐
Do you get sour or upset easily?	☐	☐
Do you feel tired—listless?	☐	☐

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable.

Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Get them at any drugstore. Only 10¢ and 25¢.

Laundry, Gas Stoves Off Rationing Aug. 15

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—The first stoves will be removed from rationing Aug. 15 when coal-wood laundry stoves and gas ranges with non-metallic outside back or side panels come off the rationed list, the Office of Price Administration announced today.

Nation-wide rationing of stoves went into effect about a year ago.

Overseas Mail Rules Stressed

Don't use shoe boxes for overseas Christmas mail—they are not acceptable to postal authorities.

This is the warning of Postmaster Patrick J. Conolly.

"Many people think a shoe box is the best container to use," Conolly said, "but they are not strong enough. Cartons should be of wood, metal or fibreboard, and should be reinforced with strong gummed paper or tied with strong twine."

The postmaster again warned that fruits and vegetables are prohibited from the mails to servicemen both overseas and in this country.

Doubts If Farms Use Many Vets

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—Foreseeing vast expansion in the use of machinery on farms, Rep. Hope (R.) of Kansas, ranking Republican on the House agriculture committee, said today there is little prospect agriculture can absorb large numbers of returning servicemen and demobilized war workers.

"Any postwar plans for agriculture," the Kansan said, "should take into consideration that, as time goes on, we will need less rather than more manpower in agricultural production."

"I'm the household handy-man!"

THEN you're just the person we want to talk to!

If your husband is away or busy, and you've taken over a lot of the family duties, there are things about your winter heat you must know NOW to save work and keep your family warm next winter.

The Government predicts a national fuel shortage this winter. That does not mean there will be a hard-coal shortage, for actually Anthracite mines and miners are taking out at least 6,000,000 more tons than before the war with 17,000 fewer men.

It does mean that, like beefsteak, like butter, like many other war-precious necessities you know about, there will be so many more DEMANDS for Anthracite that no one can have quite all they want or normally would use. Anthracite must replace all of the other fuels—coke, oil, wood—that have gone to war. It must be shared evenly so that nobody goes cold.

That's where you come in, Mrs. Handy-woman. For there are certain things you can do—NOW—to help put over this share-fair plan:

1. Order your heating-system housecleaned, checked, repaired NOW. Your coal dealer has an Anthracite Conservation booklet that will tell you what to watch out for to get more heat from less coal.
2. Send your dealer your declaration and order for that 87½% of normal requirements the Government allows you. And PLEASE don't cajole him to put in more than half your coal before October 1st. You'd get him in trouble with Uncle Sam—and keep some other family from getting their necessary share!
3. See the big news on the left, and consider it carefully. It's the biggest help for war wives we've been able to announce yet!

We can assure you that every one connected with the Anthracite Industry, as always, is doing his level best—NOW—to keep you warm next winter. We won't relax our efforts . . . and we know we can count on you!

Uncle Sam says
"FEWER TRIPS TO THE CELLAR FOR YOU!"
You Can Now Buy a Thermostat!

In the interests of Anthracite conservation, the U. S. Government has just released a generous supply of thermostats for civilian use. These are unrationed. You can buy one without a priority, from your coal dealer or heating contractor. The price is about $25. With one of these installed upstairs you can:

(a) Maintain a constant coal-conserving temperature in any weather.

(b) Save yourself many trips up and down the cellar stairs to regulate the drafts.

Ask your dealer about one right away!

V-Garden Harvest Time Is Important

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head, Vegetable Garden Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School, and Director of the Boston Record-American-Sunday Advertiser demonstration garden on Boston Common.

New gardeners frequently fail to realize that a crop, unless harvested in time, will outlive its usefulness. From now on, crops will be continually maturing.

A particularly good example of the way vegetables ripen is corn. One day it may be too small and the next day or two it may be overgrown due to good growing conditions. For this reason, gardeners must develop a practical ability to recognize just when to harvest.

Recently the question has come in as to shell beans, which ripen so fast when they are ready to pick. This is a natural condition because they are nearly mature when ready for harvest. Do not allow the pods to become too red for home use, or you will be unable to enjoy them at their best.

If you have extra shell beans I would suggest that you try canning a few, as they are excellent if canned before they become tough.

SET ONIONS READY

If you have set onions in the garden, they have probably matured by now. These bulbs should be pulled and cured well before storing away. If there are only a few I would suggest tying them in small bunches and hanging them up to dry.

Larger amounts should be spread out in a cool dry place and turned over several times to make sure they are dry. Cut the tops off above the bulb, but be sure not to damage the bulb. Onions require cool, dry storage conditions. Don't try to keep them in a root cellar or damp place.

CORN EAR WORM

This insect, which is a member of the cut-worm family, but often confused with the corn borer, is serious on late corn. It can be recognized as a large, fleshy caterpiller, greenish brown in color which enters the ear through the tip and eats the kernels around the top of the ear

It does most of its damage in late August or early September.

Controls for this insect are not too practical, but some gardeners get results by the use of mineral oil. Use a heavy grade of oil.

Veterans' Friend

Q—There has been a delay in my allotment payments. I am not sure if all necessary papers are filed and my husband is overseas. Please tell me where to write for information. A. G., Jamaica Plain.

A—Write Office of Dependency and Benefits, Newark, N. J. (attention Allotment Division).

Q—My son, a private in the U. S. Army, married a girl after a short acquaintance. I am the beneficiary of his National Service Life Insurance policy. Does my daughter-in-law automatically become the beneficiary and next-of-kin? M. B., Brighton.

A—You still remain beneficiary, unless your son changes it over to his wife, which he has the privilege of so doing. The wife would be considered next-of-kin.

Q—Please tell me if the State of Massachusetts passed the World War II bonus bill they were working on last April? I am a discharged veteran and now at a veterans' home here at Bath, N. Y. I enlisted from Massachusetts and served until six months ago. R. C.

A—No. The Legislature failed to act on the measure despite the tremendous support given the bill by various legislators and organizations. Tabled until next session in January.

Q—Will you please inform me if it is still possible for a 17-year-old boy to enlist in the Navy. R. T., Boston.

A—Yes, but the boy must have parental consent.

Q—What is the deadline for the renewal of a lapsed National Service Life Insurance policy? I was discharged about a year ago? L. T., Quincy.

A—Aug. 31, 1944, is the deadline. Otherwise you will have to undergo a physical examination.

Oil Pact Seen Big Force for Peace

By LEON PEARSON

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (INS)—Great Britain and the United States served notice today that they intend to use their control of most of the world's petroleum resources to restrain any country which might threaten the future peace of the world.

With the signing of the Anglo-American petroleum agreement by Acting Secretary of State Stettinius and Lord Beaverbrook, it was revealed that these two countries intend to withhold oil from aggressor countries, and to admit to the new international petroleum council only the "peaceable countries" of the world.

It was clear that the two governments intended to use oil as a weapon in the same way that Britain proposed to use it to prevent the Italian aggression against Ethiopia in 1935. Oil sanctions failed in that case, partly because the United States was not a member of the League of Nations.

The agreement provides for establishment of an international petroleum commission which, for now, will be confined to British and American governments

Later, an international petroleum council will be set up. A world petroleum conference will be held "as soon as practicable."

It also appeared that the British and American governments wanted to prevent the unhappy experiences which private companies of both nations have had in various oil producing countries, such as expropriation by Mexico and Bolivia on charges that they were taking too much money out of the producing countries, without leaving enough benefits.

The new agreement specifies that future oil operations must have in mind "the sound economic advancement of producing countries."

a keen interest in the piano. He began mincing up and down on the keys. He often preferred to do this after scratching around in the coal bin.

Rand always forgave him. Mrs. Thomson does now. Then she washes the keys.

He also likes to listen to the radio but apparently he is not a Lowell Thomas fan. Last night Thomas told about Buster in his broadcast. Buster arose from the floor, arched his back, yawned and walked out on the program.

"The letterwriters seem to think he is dressud up in all kinds of outlandish things," said Mrs. Thomson. "The truth is he won't even stand for a little red ribbon around his neck. I tried it one Christmas. He clawed it off and went around in a huff for half an hour."

A Hellion for Yarn

Mrs. Thomson does not devote most of her time to petting Buster. She likes to knit in the evening and he is content to purr at her feet. He also is a hellion for cuffing her ball of yarn around the floor and leaving it in snarls before scampering off to avoid punishment.

He is a bit of an esthete, too. As an alley kitten he apparently had seen no flowers until Rand took him home. In the intervening eight years he spends much of the summer sniffing flowers in the back yard and showing his approval of them by rubbing his side against the stems.

Lush living? Perhaps, but he has only one plaything. It is a stuffed cloth mouse. Once he brought home a dead rat, dragged it upstairs and staged a fierce mock battle with the vicinity mumtil adults intervened

He hasn't tasted a mouse since.

One hundred thousand dollars in his bank account and not a morsel of mouse to be had.

That's Buster, the rich cat, frustrated in the desire closest to his heart.

Milford GI Yearns For Day at Track!

By HUCK FINNEGAN

ENGLAND—It had been this correspondent's intention to move into Normandy with the (Censored) Infantry division. Friendship was mutual, and everything seemed set until the inevitable red tape enmeshed me like an octopus. SNAFU!

There had been a goodly proportion of New England GI's in the division's ranks. There wasn't time to mention them all. Now, long since separated, I find myself wondering how they are faring, how much action they have seen. On the long list were:

Pvt. Bennie Consoletti, 34, of 117 Water st., Milford. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Michael. Brother Frank, 36, was in the ETO but they hadn't met. Bennie had been a machinist in Draper Co-Op, Hopedale, (office in Boston) but his hobby was playing the horses.

"I still get the Boston Record and follow them," he said, "but what good does it do? No bookies over here. At home I never missed a Saturday or holiday at the races. If Suffolk or Rockingham or Garsett wasn't running, I'd go to Pascoag, Great Barrington, anywhere, and say, I've got 300 cousins around Milford," he said, "and 40 of them are in the Army. Check with the town clerk."

SHE WRITES EVERY DAY

Pvt. Frank Nierodzinski, 21, of 341 First ave., Webster. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Louis. Frank has been a spinner in Packard Woolen Mills, Holyoke, in love with Stell Sedlack of Wilsonville, Ct. "She writes every day," he said proudly. Baseball was his favorite sport. He had a brother Leon at sea.

Pvt. Henry Bourassa, Jr., 36, of 399 Salem st., Lawrence. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Henry, 15 Caswell ave., Methuen. Wife: Mary. Henry had been a section hand in Shawsheen Textile Mills, was itching to "get it over with and go home."

Pvt. Norman R. Specter, 20, of 30 Chestnut st., Belmont. Norman has had little but woe since he left the States. His mother died, and he had no chance to get home. The his girl (Lillian "Nickie" Chisholm, 14 Arlington st., Watertown) got mad at him. "Guess she doesn't realize there are times when the Army won't let you write," said Norman. The young rifleman attended Belmont Junior High, Somerville Trade, drove a truck for the American Vault, Belmont. At home are father Harold R. Specter, and sister Helen. "Helen has a good picture of me if you want it," he said.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Pvt. Julius Abeunas, 24, of 38 Nelson st., West Lynn, lost his father three years ago, his mother only a few months back. He had no chance to get home, either. He has his girl friends but he likes them far away, corresponding with Rose Dominice, RD 1, Chuswick, Pa., and Lois Walters, 2529 Sutherland ave., Knoxville, Tenn. "I worked on my uncle's farm at Bradbrook, Ct., before the war, and I expect to go back there," he said.

He has three brothers in uniform: Pete, Marines, Alex and Stanley, Navy.

Lt. Richard Schroeder, 24, of 116 Cherry st., New Britain. Wife: Evelyn. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Frank. Dick had run for New Britain High's track team, worked in the American Hosiery Knitting Mills. He enlisted in the National Guard in '38, was inducted into Federal Service in '41, commissioned at Ft. Benning in '42. Brother Erwin, 17, was in the Navy. "I haven't met a soul from home," he said.

PFC Herbert Mercier, 25, of 521 High st., Holyoke. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph. Herb had attended Sacred Heart Parochial and High Schols, worked in Stevens' gun factory, Chicopee Falls, was a rifleman in the ETO. He was madly in love with a Belfast girl, Gloria Muffet, and wanted to marry her. "I've got to wait until after the war," he said. "Then I'll have to come over here, marry her, and bring her back to the States. It's all very complicated but I'm going through with it. My parents know about it." Herb had been in the Army since March, '41, had volunteered for overseas service from the old 26th Division.

Pvt. Edward Da Motta, 33, of 316 Hill st., East Hartford. Wife: Anne. Baby: Jeanne, 2½ years. Da Motta's mother died last winter, but he was on furlough at the time, and attended the funeral. He had been a fancy pastry cook in civilian life, had just lost his job as cook in the Army and couldn't understand it. He wanted to be remembered to the "boys at Capital Motors." Brother Joe, 48, served with the Marines in the last war.

PFC Rosario Cadorette, 23, of 26 Central st., Northfield, Vt. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur. Rosario had lost his girl ("guess she got tired of waiting") since he came overseas but managed to put on weight nevertheless. He had worked in a Whitefield, N. H., furniture shop, was glad to swing into action in France.

Wonder if these boys are still as healthy as when I saw them last.

For the National Safety

ANNOUNCING its support of the Dewey-Bricker ticket, the Baltimore "Sun," which is classified as "Independent-Democrat" in politics, tells its readers:

"An Administration which uses its power and the substance of its people to win the labor vote or the vote of any organized pressure group is A CORRUPTING ADMINISTRATION."

The "Sun's" language is somewhat euphemistic, but it expresses a disgraceful truth.

The New Deal abuses its power in more ways than one for its own political advantage.

Its huge bureaucracy is a potent source of power.

There are now more civil employes on the Federal payroll than there are on the payrolls of all the States combined.

Thus the New Deal has debased the United States Government into the most gigantic political machine that has ever been known.

THE PUBLIC TREASURY has been for eleven years another source of New Deal power, and continues so even in time of war.

According to reports just issued by the Agriculture Adjustment Agency, "benefit" payments to farmers alone during the last fiscal year reached a total of $801,377,000.

The Associated Press said on August 4:

"This is the SECOND HIGHEST amount disbursed in ANY FISCAL YEAR since NEW DEAL farm payment programs were inaugurated in 1933."

Furthermore, the New Deal distorts the nation's laws to aggrandize its power.

In view of its use of such enormous powers for its own perpetuation, the NEW DEAL—if it possessed any real ability in government—would by this time have made itself an irremovable tyranny.

But the Baltimore "Sun" does not regard the New Deal as such.

"Today," the "Sun's" editorial said, "in its organization, the Democratic Party is little more than A SHAKY ALLIANCE between the President's personal followers and official dependents, the disgruntled South and the unsavory big city bosses, all for the purpose of holding on to power and the perquisites of power for four years longer.

"No good for the country can come out of such a combination of forces."

THE "SUN" does not believe, either, that there is any merit in Mr. Roosevelt's campaign posture of "commander-in-chief."

"There was no good reason," it says, "EVEN WITH REFERENCE TO THE WAR, why Mr. Roosevelt should have chosen to do violence to the profound beliefs of his party and the most cherished tradition of the country by seeking to hold on to his office.

"The American people know, deep in their hearts, that LONG TENURE OF OFFICE CORRUPTS THE SOUL OF THE OFFICE HOLDER and breeds therein CONTEMPT OF THE PEOPLE AND THEIR INSTITUTIONS.

"Such disintegration has been in evidence in the Roosevelt Administration for a long time...

"Even if it were correct to say that Mr. Roosevelt has been a GOOD war leader, we should still have to ask ourselves WHAT SORT OF A LEADER HE WOULD MAKE IN THE EARLY POSTWAR YEARS.

"But the primary issue will remain.

"In a fourth term, with the unifying ties of wartime emotion removed, THE EVIL FORCES OF DISINTEGRATION which we all know exist would be free to do their worst.

"THE NATIONAL SAFETY WOULD BE COMPROMISED."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—As I go down life's highway I become more and more convinced that there is one beautiful experience to be cherished above all others.

It is to meet—face to face, and in the flesh—someone who knows as little about what is going to develop politically as I do.

I meet so many who know everything, and it is very wearing. It can be painful, too, because it seems that most of the seers who insist on giving me their business are shoulder-pokers.

To add emphasis, they pick out that soft spot just under the collar-bone—an area that we eminent anatomists call the pectoralis major—and hit it every time by dead reckoning.

I have bitten off six or seven of these poking fingers to date, and, although word has gone around that I practically live on a diet of prodding digits, there is little or no letup.

I do not have any actual statistics or comparative tables on which to base this claim, but I will bet I have one of the sorest pectoralis majors, or maybe pectoralises major, south of the Mason-Dixon line.

Consequently, I was overjoyed today when I ran into a party who not only kept his finger to himself but admitted frankly he had no idea how the war, or anything else, was going to affect the political situation.

I suppose there are some who say I have no business wasting my time with such a dummy; that I am being paid to leg it around and talk to people who know something. The only excuse I can offer—in the words of the great Babe Ruth—is that I must have been in a transom.

Now, if I can only remember the name of this doll! Let me see?—Smith? — LaFlamm? — Ickes?—Framingham? I have it!—Farley!—James A. Farley!

It seems Mr. Farley has no knowledge of anything that is to come because the minute he quit as Postmaster General he was forced to turn in his New Deal crystal ball, also his head-reading charts.

However, I did not realize he had gotten to be such a know-nothing. I raced toward him confident in the belief that I would get some good inside stuff.

"General," I said, fawningly, "this is a great pleasure. I see by the public prints that the war news is going very good. What effect will this have on the election?"

Mr. Farley looked furtively about the place and even went over and inspected two potted palms. Then he leaned down confidentially and whispered:

"I haven't the faintest idea."

I climbed up on a chair and grabbed him by both lapels. Mr. Farley being somewhat tall.

"Come, come, general!" I said. "None of this evasiveness. This is no way to win $64. It is certainly not a family characteristic. I never have any trouble like this with Mrs. Farley. She always tells everything, including what she thinks of President Roosevelt."

"Then," said the general, "why don't you interview Mrs Farley?"

"I tried to," I said, "but was informed she was at the hairdresser's. A woman at the hairdresser's is no subject for interviewing. She has so many distracting things on her mind."

Mr. Farley looked around again. Then he said:

"You get around a lot. If the war in Europe is over—or well in the bag—before election, will it help or hamper the Republicans?"

Through many a foreign city and land
I travel away from the clasp of your hand;
But whether on mountain or river or sea
Wherever I wander my heart is with thee!

The sparkle of dewdrops that sprinkle my way,
The bloom on the meadow, the bud on the tree
Whatever hath beauty reminds me of thee.

"Some say 'yes,' and some say 'no'" I replied. "But, look here! I had some vague idea of interviewing you. If you wish to interview me you will have to show me your press credentials. What paper do you represent, Mr. Farley?"

"None," said Mr. Farley. "I just wanted to know in case somebody asked me."

"Oh," I said, "you just want to bandy my name around, you cad! I suppose you want to bandy it around those smoke-filled rooms."

"I don't smoke."

"I am well aware of that. You don't drink either and it must be miserable. I know, because I do both and I don't feel so good from it this morning. But I understand you practically live in smoke-filled rooms. What do they say there about the election?"

"Quite a lot," said Mr. Farley. "But it's about the way you put it. Some say 'yes'; some say 'no.' Illuminating, ain't it?"

THE ONLY PIECE of concrete information I got out of Mr. Farley was that his 16-year-old son, James, Jr., feels a change of policy is needed in the Farley household.

It seems father and son checked into a hotel in Laredo, Tex., the day before the Republican national convention. Mr. Farley had just given out a statement that he was staying regular: that he had no time for F. D. R., but would not run out on the Democrats.

Mr. Farley sent James, Jr., out to get the newspapers. They found Farley pere's statement played up adequately—but alongside it another statement by Mrs. Farley—who was in Chicago—that she was going to vote Republican.

James, Jr., studied both statements. Then he said:

"Father, I think you should be more firm with mother!"

Couldn't say. However, not so long ago a baby weighing 16 ounces was born in Greenwich, Ct. Q—What have you in your Horses & Women files as to brown-eyed brunettes born under the sign of Pisces? A—Pisces-born brown-eyed brunettes are somewhat flirtatious and inclined to be a little wild, but can be tamed by a patient man of strong character if she loves him. They make good career women and excellent housewives but are inclined to be moody and have a habit of singing the blues. Their lucky day is Monday. Or so our H. & W. experts, plus the claims of stargazers, indicate.

SIDELIGHTS: "What is the most quoted crack ever made by an American sport celebrity?" is a question that comes from a soldier in New Guinea. I would say it is Bill Terry's immortal observation: "Is Brooklyn still in the League?" After that comes Joe Jacob's celebrated protest: "We was robbed!" . . . It has been claimed by some people the drugs illegally given young fellows to make them appear as being unfit for military service also have a tendency to make them irresponsible. Many hold-ups and killings have been attributed to these hopped-up draft evaders. A poorly lighted and lonesome street is a very dangerous place after dark at this time. Fellow I know was held up last week while walking his dog in a quiet residential district.

BRIEFLY: The photo finish is not used at English race tracks. However, the finish of this year's Derby was so close and inspired so much discussion the British turf authorities are thinking of giving in and using the photo finish . . . Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 9—Paramount has every hope Alan Ladd will not be called into service again until he finishes "Salty O'Rourke," which goes into production immediately. Raoul Walsh, who has made most of Errol Flynn's good pictures at Warners, has been borrowed to direct Alan, who remains at the top of the fan poll with Frank Sinatra and Van Johnson.

Paramount really has something in this boy, whose fan mail continues to top any other actor on the lot. Alan's health hasn't been good. He is painfully thin and he's never recovered from the long sickness he had following his brief Army career. And although he has already gotten his notice, it is possible, when he is called again, he will be reclassified.

VIRGINIA LEDERER'S first book, "Marry at Leisure," brought $20,000 from RKO before it was even so much as published. The New York RKO office read the galley proofs, sent by Doubleday Doran, publishers, and bought it pronto. Virginia is writing another book and will arrive in California soon. She says Capt. Charlie Lederer, her husband, is overseas and it was she who registered at Pierre's in New York and not her soldier husband. She credits Charlie for giving her the idea for her second book. He, too, is a brilliant writer and was one of the late Alexander Woollcott's closest friends.

LOOKS AS IF Humphrey Bogart will not star in "Jubal Troop." When I talked to Bogie he said he didn't mind having had the picture turned down by Gary Cooper and Cary Grant because turned down pictures have been lucky for him. He had made "High Sierras" and "The Maltese Falcon," which gave him his start toward fame after George Raft turned them down. But he wanted to read the script. I don't know whether he's read the script now. He hadn't when I talked with him, but today at Warners it was said they knew nothing about his playing the part and that he was still on his boat, where he always hides on suspensions. I could get no verification of the rumor he is to make a picture for Howard Hawks.

THOSE OF US Who have known Jackie Cooper since he was a little boy feel he should not be judged until he has a chance to speak for himself. No one should be condemned without a hearing. Knowing Jackie's high ideals and how conscientious he has always been about doing the right thing, it is difficult to believe the sordid story. I know he was very eager to have a good record in the Navy. I saw him in Chicago during the Republican convention and he told me then that as soon as he finished schooling he was going to marry June Horne, but not until he was graduated. Norman Taurog, his uncle, Helen Ferguson and many others believe Jackie will have something to say to clear himself when he gets the chance.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Anne Shirley is home from the hospital, but it will be three or four months before she is able to work. Following her major operation, she developed triple anemia and, she said today, the only thing on her mind at present is to get well. Producer Adrian Scott of RKO has been a constant visitor at her bedside. So, apparently the Eddie Albert and Victor Mature attachments are in the past. But Anne says she is not thinking of marriage until she gets well.

AL JOLSON has changed his mind and is bringing suit against 20th Century-Fox for using a scene from "Rose of Washington Square" in "Take It or Leave It." He said today he had a friendly talk with Joseph Schenck who said: "If you think you have a case, go ahead and sue." However, I heard from one of the Twentieth executives they feel they are protected in their contract. Al says: "I'm not so mad I won't go to see 'Wilson.'" He says if he wins this suit he will turn over the money to Ann Sothern's Hollywood Guild.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD AT RANDOM: Virginia Bruce's latest heart throb is Fred Brady, M-G-M actor; John Payne, in town for the week-end, buying dinner for Sheila Ryan at the Beachcombers; Anne Baxter's escort to "Wilson" will be John Hodiak. The boy gets around; friends have received word Eve Curie, daughter of Madame Curie, was seriously injured in an automobile accident in South Africa; Sonja Henie's husband, Capt. Dan Topping, has received orders and will go overseas soon; Greer Garson has been in bed with a bad cold and sore throat. After we printed that Bob Benchley had been ordered to lose 40 pounds he sent the following wire: "Please ask Dr. Martin how I can lose 40 pounds before I face the camera tomorrow. This is urgent"; Bobby Breen is headed for the Officers' Training School and is not getting a medical discharge; birthdays galore were celebrated at the Jack Warner party, including Jack's own natal day. There was Lt. Bob Taylor, Kay Williams, Mrs. Otto Preminger and Yours Truly, all of whom were given individual birthday cakes; it was one of the few formal parties of the year and one of the nicest. Everybody was there—and I mean everybody. Mary Livingston said she was so lonesome for Jack Benny that if he didn't come home soon she'd be trying to join him.

Fashion Cannot Hide Hair in Poor Condition Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

AUGUST MAY BE THE TRADITIONAL month of dog days . . . but store windows are full of tantalizing furs to whet our fall appetite with apparel for brisk, breezy days ahead. And, don't think because the coming season means more hat for the hair that your topper or veil . . . no matter how beguiling . . . can disguise hair in poor condition.

I know . . . we've been through a terrifically hot spell . . . and your hair has taken a relentless licking from the heat and humidity . . . and your lifeless, lackluster locks are droopy and drooping. When the mercury soars all you think about is getting cool . . . not how you look to yourself or others.

But, Labor Day will soon be here and then comes the beginning of another strenuous season to keep up appearances. You'll want healthy, shining hair that bespeaks a vital, younger, more glowing you to present a most flattering frame to your face . . . to show off the simply grand new fashions. And, I do mean grand, for never before in fashion history has so much drama been written into costumes and headgear.

Cognizant of the need of healthy, lovely hair a name salon . . . famous for their cosmetics among the nation's most discriminating women . . . has arranged scientific scalp treatments to help every gal achieve lovelier hair to greet the new season. Carefully planned and thoroughly tested . . . these treatments will strengthen and restore vitality to the most fragile locks . . . as they respond to skilled fingers trained to imitable technique.

VIOLET AIR SHAMPOO

There is the violet air shampoo ,a waterless, soapless hair bath, which uses a medicated purified air steam to cleanse the scalp while a vigorous Violet air spray vitalizes the scalp with renewed circulation. Your wave isn't harmed in the least and a lovely new depth and lustre comes to your hair.

A grand reconditioning treatment for hair that needs special care . . . beneficial before and after a permanent . . . is an emulsion shampoo . . . containtaining carrotin, one of the ingredients of which the hair is composed . . . and which replaces this important necessity to dull, drab hair. The oils penetrate the hair shaft and soften the outer cuticle . . . making your locks soft, pliable and lovely. These and other hair and scalp treatments await you.

You may learn where to have these scientific hair treatments for hair beauty by phoning the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or by writing me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope

CORDUROYS ARE SMART . . . and they may be changed around for slacks or a skirt of the same with matching vest . . . because they tailor so well and are sufficiently sturdy to stand for a lot of knocking about. CBS actress Phyllis Creore models corduroy short shorts which are ideal for bike riding, hiking, tennis, golf or even a short canter. The brown and white checked cotton poplin shirt is stunning complement.—R. M.

WITH MORE HAT the decreed fashion edict for fall . . . hair will assume new importance . . . and no matter how chic the chapeau looks, the poor condition of the hair cannot be disguised or hidden . . . Hair beauty . . . as lovely as Warner star Faye Emerson's shining locks . . . can be achieved with scientific scalp treatments done by skilled fingers in a famous name salon.

Child's Thank-You Notes

By MRS. BEECKMAN

CHILDREN LOVE to write letters. But too many mothers, judging that children don't like to write letters any more than they do, do nothing about encouraging this wonderful habit in their children.

A child who is old enough to write, or even to print, can be taught, and joyously taught, to write a thank-you note for a gift. He'll remember to do this if his mother remembers to encourage him to do it. The mother sows the good thought . . . the child reaps the good habit . . . and this habit adds happiness and grace to the child's life, now and for the rest of his life.

Accessories Important

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THIS is going to be a season in which your accessories will play a very big role in giving you that top-of-the-fashion look.

The fall hats that are coming out are all set to flatter the faces over which they ride, and there are loads of new ideas in evening hats, coifs and headdresses. The designers think we'll be getting around a lot after dark, and they have done themselves proud to give us fine things to wear.

Very pretty evening accessories from Florence Reichman are sketched. The coif and handbag are made of rose-colored brocade. The coif covers the ears and ties in a graceful bow at the top of the head. The bag is not so small but what it will hold everything, and is very charming in shape, with pointed sides and a V-faced flap.

Wide Variety of Corn Dishes for Meal Treats

SWEET CORN IS GETTING quite plentiful and offers innumerable ways to add variety to meals. It's good energy food, too. Corn on the cob is best liked by everyone—and there are corn fritters, green peppers stuffed with corn, cut corn served with chopped green peppers and onions, seasoned.

While corn is in season, try some of these recipes:

CAROLINA CORN

6 strips bacon ½ cup milk
1 to ½ eggs, slightly beaten
2 cups fresh corn
¼ tsp. pepper

Cook bacon to a delicate brown in heavy saucepan. Remove from fat and cut in small pieces. To slightly beaten eggs, add milk, corn, cut bacon, and pepper. Cook in bacon fat over medium heat, stirring constantly until set. Add salt if necessary. Makes 6 servings.

SUCCOTASH

1 cup fresh lima beans
2 cups fresh corn salt
½ cup cream pepper

Cook beans and corn separately in small amount of water until tender. Drain off water, combine vegetables with cream, season to taste with salt and pepper, and reheat. Makes 6 servings.

CORN OYSTERS

2 eggs, well beaten
2 cups grated fresh corn
¾ cup sifted flour
½ tsp. pepper ½ tsp. salt

Mix ingredients together. Drop by tablespoonfuls on well greased griddle and cook like griddle cakes. Serve with meat gravy or maple syrup. Makes 6 servings.

SQUAW CORN

3 strips bacon
2 tbsp. minced green pepper
2 tbsp. minced onion
3 cups cooked corn
1 tbsp. pimiento, cut in strips

Cook bacon to delicate brown in heavy saucepan. Remove from fat and cut in small pieces. Add green pepper and onion, and cook 3 minutes over medium heat. Add corn, bacon and pimiento and reheat. Makes 6 servings.

CORN FRITTERS

1½ cups sifted flour
2 tsp. baking powder
1 tbsp. melted fat ⅔ tsp. s
½ cup milk 1 egg, beate
1 cup grated fresh corn

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Combine egg, corn and milk; add to dry ingredients, mixing well. Fry in hot deep fat (350 to 365 deg. F.) 2 to 5 minutes, or until golden brown; drain on unglazed paper. Serve hot with syrup or tart jelly. Makes 8 fritters.

SCALLOPED CORN

½ cup cornmeal 1¼ tsp. salt
1 tbsp. brown sugar
⅔ cup milk, scalded
1 tbsp. butter 1 egg, well beaten
2 cups fresh corn
¼ cup minced pimiento
1 2 slices broiled bacon

Combine cornmeal, salt and brown sugar. Add butter to milk and add slowly to cornmeal, mixing well; add egg, corn and pimiento; turn into greased casserole and bake in moderately slow oven (325 deg. F.) about 1 hour, or until browned. Stir frequently during first 20 minutes of baking to prevent meal from settling. Serve hot with bacon. Makes 6 servings.

The Correct Thing

NOT "MRS. LIEUTENANT"! Regardless of her husband's professional or service title, a woman is introduced or addressed as "Mrs. Jones." She is NOT "Mrs. Lt. Jones" or "Mrs. Dr. Brown."

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Tuesday—Today, in Cleveland, Ohio, there will be a little ceremony to mark the presentation by Mrs. Ellen S. Woodward, member of the Social Security Board of the Federal Security Agency, of the millionth benefit check presented under the federal old age and survivors insurance program. This check goes to Mrs. Mary Rex Thompson, recently widowed wife of a Cleveland war worker, and her two children, Dale Bernice, 4, and Gerald, 1.

On this day the program has been working for four years and seven months, and the total amount of monthly benefits is $18,300,000.

THE MILLION beneficiaries are divided as follows—418,500 retired workers, aged 65 or over, and 122,000 wives of retired workers who are over 65; 109,000 widows with young children, and 288,000 children of retired or deceased workers. Aged widows of 65 or over number 58,000, and aged dependent parents of deceased workers who left no widow or child under 18, and who are 65 or over, number 4500.

★ ★ ★

BENEFITS ARE based on wages, so one person may receive more than another, depending on the wage earned. The highest monthly wage on which these benefits are figured is $250.

Some day I hope that all workers will be covered in this way. As you know, the cost is shared by the employes and their employers. The employe puts in one per cent of his wages and an equal per cent is contributed by the employer.

★ ★ ★

THIS INCREASES gradually until each will be paying three per cent in 1949. All these payments go into the old age and survivors insurance trust fund in the United States Treasury. The workers not covered are mainly farm workers, those in domestic service in private homes, government workers in local, county, state and federal government, and those working in non-profit organizations, such as the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A. and the church.

It is Lilian's first visit since her marriage in the spring of '41 and of course the first time the Fernalds have seen their adorable little granddaughter who was born on the Isle of Easter Lilies.

Lilian is having many reunion luncheons and teas with the girls she went to school and came out with and hopes her husband can fly up from Bermuda next month so they can go to the White Mountains for an autumn vacation. She has made several trips to Marblehead for luncheon and swimming at the Eastern Yacht Club where she made her debut, and is filling in as a volunteer at the Buddies' Club where her mother has been doing so much splendid work. The family celebrated the beginning of Race Week by lunching and sailing at the Eastern Sunday.

One of Lilian's closest friends and bridesmaids, Mrs. Malcolm Kirkbride (the former Edith Shaw), has been home from Washington and together they were entertained at a dinner on the Sheraton Roof by Edith's father, Herbert Bramwell Shaw of Chestnut st.

Jones to Talk On War at Braintree

Back from the European war theater, Bill Jones, ace photographer of the Boston Record-American-Advertiser, will make his first public appearance tomorrow as speaker at the noon meeting of the Braintree Rotary Club in Masonic Temple, Braintree.

Jones, just home after an 18-hour flight from Scotland, had a front seat throughout the robot blitz on London and then joined the Normandy invasion forces right after D-Day.

The Boston lensman met hundreds of Greater Boston boys in his travels and took more than 1000 pictures. He flew with paratroopers into Normandy and his land jaunts took him close to the front lines.

He was a guest at tea with Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery on the Caen front in Normandy while rival shells roared overhead.

Plot to Overthrow Franco Discovered

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (INS)—The London radio broadcast a German Transocean Agency report that "a plot to overthrow the Franco regime in Spain has been discovered."

The broadcast, monitored by both NBC and CBS, added that the agents charged with engineering the coup have been arrested in Morocco.

Veronica Lake A Sly Borgia

By JOYCE DANA

When better Borgias go down in the pages of history and fiction, W. Somerset Maugham will add more laurel leaves to his wreath. In his "The Hour Before the Dawn," now at the Paramount and Fenway, Veronica Lake joins the ranks of the soulless sirens who break hearts without a qualm.

Miss Lake, with both eyes wide open, is perhaps one of the most appealing Mata Haris Hollywood has sent us, and it's quite understandable that Franchot Tone finds her more beautiful than dangerous.

This prepossessing pair head a starry cast, which includes Binnie Barnes, John Sutton, Henry Stephenson, Philip Merivale, and Nils Asther, in a highly dramatic story set in England at the outbreak of the war, when Nazi spies were a dime a dozen on the tight little isle. Miss Veronica, posing in sweet innocence as an Austrian refugee, ingratiates herself with a wealthy and socially prominent English family, but with the cunning of a fox, she's really stooging for the mad man of the Munich beer parlors.

Mr. Tone fits into her plans admirably. He is, first of all, a peace-loving lad who'd rather wield a hoe than shoulder a rifle. Brother John, on the other hand, distinguishes himself as a member of the RAF, and furthermore knows all about a secret airfield that's of more than passing interest to the Luftwaffe.

By way of contrast, and slick hot weather fun is "Song of the Open Road" on the same program. Just a peek at the stars—Edgar Bergen and the ubiquitous Chas McCarthy, W. C. Fields to heckle him, the new and talented little songbird, Jane Powell, Bonita Granville and Sammy Kaye and his orchestra, make this one of the very merriest musicals of the summer season. Together it's a well rounded bill of entertainment at the twin houses.

Bathing Beauty Held Over At Loew's State, Orpheum

"Bathing Beauty" holds for a second week at both Loew's State and Orpheum. This opulent Technicolor production from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios is chalking new attendance figures at both theaters. The film serves as a starring vehicle for Red Skelton and Esther Williams. Red is seen as the only male enrolled at a co-ed college, and Esther is the swimming instructor with whom he falls in love.

The supporting cast includes Basil Rathbone, Bill Goodwin, Ethel Smith, Carlos Ramirez, Jon Porter, and Harry James and Xavier Cugat and their famous bands.

Several shorts appear on the same program, including Pete Smith's "Movie Pests," and the latest "Crime Doesn't Pay" film.

BILL BENDIX, visiting the Stork Club after the preview of his newest film, "Abroad With Two Yanks," confided to his friends that he was slightly surprised to see the title of the picture when it flashed on the screen. All the time it was being made (he swears) he thought it was called "A Broad With Two Yanks!" There was much neck-craning at the Colony the other night as diners ogled rising star Geraldine ("Wilson") Fitzgerald with Charlie Feldman. But no one even recognized a great star of the silent days, Anita Stewart, who was just a few tables away in earnest dialogue with her husband, Mai. George Converse . . . The personal shopping department of a select Fifth ave. department store is in a tizzy over an order received the other day. A "spare no expense" communique, it asked that the finest black lace underwear obtainable —slips, nightgowns, panties, even girdles—be shipped to a given address in England. The order came from a brigadier general in the American Army!

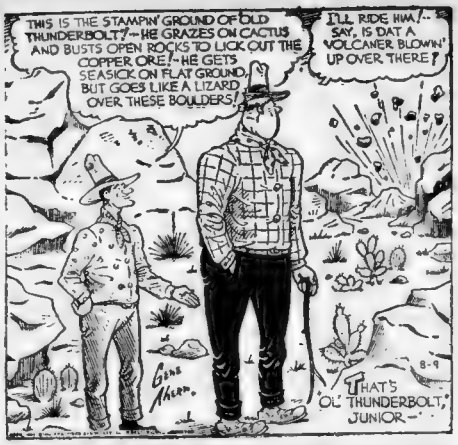
ALL AROUND TOWN: Fifty-second st. has been agog with rumors that Lena Horne had wed a well-known swing bandleader. It does'nt appear to be true, although the lad in question is on the Coast now . . . Eleanor Holm and Billy Rose have a magnificent country mansion. George Jessel, a frequent visitor there, calls it Loew's Rose" . . . There's a new trio around that I just have to adore. It's called "Pink, Plank and Plunk"- . . . A model "friend" has blitzed Billy Boze out of first place with Sammy Renick . . . Six of the chornes in "Follow the Girls" have become brides since the show opened.



THIS IS THE STAMPIN' GROUND OF OLD THUNDERBOLT?—HE GRAZES ON CACTUS AND BUSTS OPEN ROCKS TO LICK OUT THE COPPER ORE!—HE GETS SEASICK ON FLAT GROUND, BUT GOES LIKE A LIZARD OVER THESE BOULDERS!

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 9—Clark Gable intends to go to the Pacific to entertain the soldiers before he starts to work on a picture. . . Laird Cregar is not returning to Hollywood to play the lead in "Hangover Square," and his role will be played by George Sanders . . . Lieut. Col. William Wyler is now in Corsica, where he is making a Government film . . . Ava Gardner and Frank McCown, who plays the part of James J. Corbett in "The Great John L.", are for each other . . . Francis Lederer will play the part of Johann Strauss in the new operetta, "Mr. Strauss Goes To Boston." . . . Bette Davis is considering playing in Oscar Wilde's "Lady Windermere's Fan" at Warners . . . George Petty is going to make drawings of the "Ziegfeld Follies" girls . . . PFC Red Skelton has this sign on his tent at camp: "Nominal Fee to See the Home of a Movie Star" . . . Arthur Murray claims that the Tommy Dorsey-Jon Hall fight was unofficial because it didn't take place at the Mocambo.

Bette Davis

SONJA HENIE, now doing "It's A Pleasure," tells friends that her next picture will be a straight dramatic story with no skates and no ice . . . Veronica Lake's newest gimmick is the "kitchen party." She puts on an apron and serves from the kitchen with her guests helping. It works fine . . . Lt. Robert Stack and Peggy Maley are vooming . . . Jimmy Cardwell got a letter from Lt. Harry Harris, somewhere in the Pacific, which said, "Out here the boys want to know what's new on the Lana Turner front?" . . . Tom Jenk tells about the theater manager who claims that bad pictures are hard on theaters because bored audiences fidget, wiggle and pick on the chairs.

* * *

ALICE FAYE wants to play a straight dramatic role, and the studio is preparing a picture for her called "The On-The-Square Girl" in which she is a newspaper woman . . . Hal Wallis wants William Dieterle to direct "Love Letters" for him . . . Joel McCrea is on his way to Washington for another series of meetings in the Department of Agriculture, where he is an official consultant . . . Capt. John Carroll and Sheila Ryan have been doing the town together . . . Rosario and Antonio, the dancers who recently did a specialty in "Hollywood Canteen," have been signed for the picture, "Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe." . . . Doubleday-Doran want H. Allen Smith to do a tour of South America and write a book about it . . . Arturo de Cordova and Chili Williams are interested in each other . . . Walter Reisch tells about the only actress in Hollywood who has a stand-in for her stand-in. She is Lassie . . . In the foyer of the Egyptian Theater there is a wishing well. People throw pennies into it and make a wish. Some weeks ago Mary Ganly saw a man exit from the theater, throw a penny into the wishing well and say, "I wish I hadn't seen that picture."

Boston After Dark

REUNION IN HUMAROCK. If the Christmas family spirit happens to prevail during the current summer heat at the shore residence of the Dr. John F. Caseys of Brighton and Humarock Beach, this is the reason: . . . All seven of the Casey children are at home with their parents for the first time since before Pearl Harbor . . . The four Casey sons of military age are enjoying leaves of absence at the same time . . . Lt. Col. Thomas Casey is back for the first time from the South Pacific front . . . Capt. John F., Jr., and Lt. Edward, both U. S. A., were granted leaves coincidentally with their big brother . . . And even Cadet George Casey found some time off from West Point to participate in the family reunion.

* * *

AND HERE'S the story of another joyous wartime reunion . . . Eight months to the day after the death of his father, William L. Jarvis, of Brookline and Scituate, popular young Charlie Jarvis got his wings at Ft. Sumner, New Mexico . . . Lt. Jarvis and his elder brother, Capt. William L. Jarvis, Jr., U. S. A., will join their mother at their Scituate home Friday for the first time since their father's death . . . It will be an exciting visit for both officers . . . Capt. Jarvis will be seeing for the first time his two-month-old heir, William L. Jarvis, 3d . . . And at St. Sebastian's Church, Providence, this Friday they will attend the wedding of their beautiful cousin, Ethel Kennedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kennedy of that city, to Ph. Mate 2 c Richard T. Downes, USNR . . . The bridegroom-to-be is a son of Ted Downes, manager of the Crown Hotel.

* * *

IF THE COLUMN READS like something out of a social events page today, please blame it on the heat which finally drove this department to the cover of the beachfronting Cliff Hotel in North Scituate for a two days' switch from the night club beat to the open air. The accent is on social news rather than to text of a heavier nature . . . The visit was thoroughly worth-while in more particulars than what good could be derived from the sun and salt air . . . In the nether purlieus of the Cliff, in a room called the Brazilian Bamboo Lounge, we encountered a young lady named Peg Carty . . . The girl has talent and we think high possibilities . . . But prediction in such cases as the Carty case is difficult . . . For she is that rara avis—a comedienne.

* * *

IN THE KNOWLEDGE that you can count the country's funny women on one hand, and in the awareness also that movie scouts and talent scouts and other Columouses of the entertainment world seize upon a comedy prospect of the female persuasion like an out-of-work Dutch diamond-cutter reaching for the Kohinoor, we hesitate to announce definitely that another Cass Daley has been discovered . . . Yet the possibility is there . . . Miss Carty has a face which is acutely photogenic . . . She has a cute voice and the ever-necessary rhythm . . . She dances . . . She projects . . . Best of all, she has no desire to be a glamour-puss . . . She is of the gangling type (although this description can be attributed to her carriage more than to her figure, which is all right . . .) In short, we think the girl has a real chance to be important, and the word is hereby passed along to Arthur Willi, the ubiquitous talent scout of RKO. (He reads the column.)

* * *

EXCLUSIVE: The borough of The Bronx is about to turn out Maestro Ed Flynn, it's long-time political leader . . . Flynn's successor will be Arthur Conlon, a young and energetic lawyer who was "brought up" in politics . . . He is a son-in-law of Arthur Murphy, famous Bronx leader of 20 years ago.

Hughson at Peak As He Joins Navy

By JACK CONWAY

CECIL (TEX) HUGHSON was to pitch his final game of baseball for the duration for the Red Sox against Chicago this afternoon. The sturdy Texan who has won 17 and lost only five games this season will strive to step into Navy blues with one more victory to his credit.

Tex Hughson

I agree with Joe Cashman when he says that if Hughson had been permitted to remain with the Sox for the full season that he probably would have won from 25 to 30 games. He was certain to have cracked his own 1942 mark when he scored 22 wins.

What slim chance the Sox had of winning the American League pennant faded when Fred Hoey revealed exclusively that Hughson had been called by the Navy. Hughson has been Joe Cronin's one man pitching staff this season. Without Tex, the Sox would probably be in the second division instead of six and a half games behind the Browns.

It was probably a disappointment to Hughson when military necessity made it impossible for him to finish out the season. He would probably have liked to have seen how many games he could have won, and at the same time given the Sox every possible assistance in their effort to win their first pennant for Tom Yawkey.

One cannot expect Hughson to be enthusiastic about leaving one of the best baseball spots in the country for a berth in the Navy. Like other baseball players who have been called by the armed services, Hughson will do his full duty, but it is natural that he has regrets about leaving the Sox at this time.

Youngesters in their 'teens, who have not any deep roots in business or in sports, look upon joining up with one of the services in a different light. Most of their pals are already in service, and they wish to be with them. Older men who have made good in business or in sports wonder what will be their lot when the war is won and they try to resume where they left off.

In the case of a baseball pitcher like Hughson, he may never again reach the heights he has attained this year. Therefore, give Hughson a great ovation at Fenway Park today. He rates it.

★ ★ ★

HUGHSON JOINED the Navy in March, but he was not called for service until the other day. Once he was back with the Red Sox he gave his utmost every time he pitched. The official records only credit him with 17 victories, but he saved three or four more pastimes for the Sox.

For a ball club to win a pennant it must possess at least one great pitcher like Hughson. The men of Cronin had the power at the bat to win games for flingers who did not perform as brilliantly as Hughson.

With the war moving rapidly in Europe and in the Far East, it is possible that Hughson may be back with the Red Sox before the 1945 season closes. When Tex does come back, I hope he retains all of his pitching magic. His stout heart will be even stouter as a result of his association with the fighting men of Uncle Sam's Navy.

Bill Smith (The Clocker), who makes his selections for the Green Race Special of the Boston Evening American, came up with five winners at Rockingham yesterday, including the daily double which paid $134.40.

Sewell Fears Yanks, Red Sox

By Associated Press

Luke Sewell's St. Louis Browns opened their final decisive eastern tour today and even the boss was surprised to find a 6½-game mattress to fall back on if the going got too tough.

"I didn't realize we had that much of a lead until I read the newspapers," said Sewell, "we just concentrate on trying to win every day. Sure, I'm worried about the Yankees and Red Sox. I'm worried about every club in the league, including Washington. They're all tough and the league is pretty well balanced up."

HOPES FOR .500 BALL

Sewell may believe deep down in his heart that his Brownies are "in" but you won't hear him say so until the last mathematical doubt has been eliminated.

The ig "if" to the Brownies' chances continues to be the current road trip. If the club can play .500 ball or close to it without developing any serious slump tickets can be printed for an all-Sportsman's Park World Series.

After visiting all eastern cities, St. Louis must stop off at Detroit and Cleveland before going home. After the long jaunt, only five road games in Chicago will remain.

Four games in four days in New York will be followed by four in three days in Boston, where Joe Cronin's Red Sox have hopes of blasting the visitors despite the imminent loss of Tex Hughson, who is due to pitch his last game today against Chicago.

Detroit and Cleveland, still in the thick of the race, staked their hopes on successful eastern invasions. To date the eastern clubs hold a 125-110 victory edge in four American League intersectional series.

Grid Rivals Meet at Guam

Lt. Daniel J. McFadden, former Boston College end, of Choate, rd., Belmont, and 2 Lt. John V. Robinson of Lexington, Tex., who were football enemies back in 1937 when B. C. defeated Kentucky, 6-0, found themselves on the same team at Guam.

The pair were among five former college football stars in a marine assault unit which landed on the island, according to delayed dispatches today.

Lou Rochelli Back With Dodger Squad

IOWA CITY, Ia., Aug. 9 (INS)—When the Brooklyn Dodgers get to Chicago Thursday for a series they will take on Lou Rochelli, shortstop of the Iowa Navy Pre-Flight School baseball team.

A decrease in the number of Navy-trained fliers gave Rochelli a temporary return to civilian life. He will be on the Dodgers' roster until his draft board calls him.

Sox Flag Chances Blow As Hughson Bows Out

By BILL GRIMES

In his final appearance on the mound as a Red Sox hurler for the duration, Cecil "Tex" Hughson will face the Chicago White Sox this afternoon at Fenway Park.

Hughson, who has been the ace of Joe Cronin's none too reliable pitching corps, enrolled in the United States Naval Reserves before the opening of the current campaign. Believing that he would be inducted during the month of April, Hughson didn't report for spring training. However, after the season started, he was informed that his "call" might not come for months and received permission to join the Red Sox, which he did late in April.

During the three months, he has been with the Sox, Hughson has turned in no less than 17 victories, topping all of Joe Cronin's hurlers by a comfortable margin and all American League pitchers, with the exception of Hal Newhouser, of the Detroit Tigers, who will be shooting for his 18th win this week at Washington.

The Red Sox can ill-afford to lose Hughson, who is an odds on favorite to beat any club he faces. Hughson's ability to stop opponents on 17 occasions has kept the Red Sox in the American League race. While the other members of Joe Cronin's pitching staff were blowing hot and cold this spring, old "Tex" began to make his presence with the Red Sox felt through the league by chalking up win after win.

But for the assistance rendered by "Tex" Hughson, the Red Sox now would be hopelessly out of the running, instead of six and one-half games back of the St. Louis Browns.

FALTER IN FLAG CHASE

The Red Sox played .500 ball (10 wins vs. 10 defeats) on their last road trip and the critics predicted that they would close in on the Browns during this home stay. But, they were enough out of step during the Washington series to blow two games, both of which they could have and should have won.

The departure of Hughson for his home at Kyle, Tex., after today's game, ruins whatever chance the Red Sox had of bringing another war year pennant to the Hub. And, if Bobby Doerr, Leon Culberson and Tom Yawkey's three catchers, Hal Wagner, Roy Partee and Bill Conroy are called, the Red Sox will have trouble staying in the first division.

As usual, Jimmy Dykes isn't in a pleasant frame of mind. His White Sox were the recipients of a going over at the hands of the Detroit just before they left the Winder City and were eased out of the first division. The Dykesmen haven't won a game at Fenway Park this season. In fact, they hadn't taken a devision from the Croninmen even at home until the last visit of the Red Sox to Comiskey Park.

The Red Sox and White Sox are scheduled to play four days at Fenway Park, all single games

Grand Swim Climax Due at Carson Beach

By MIKE GILLOOLY

5 Winchester Girls in Record-American Swim

Winchester's newly organized Swimming Club, under the capable direction of Miss Helen Carroll, will be eyeing the Mass. State 440-yard women's free style championship in the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser meet to be held Saturday afternoon at Leonard pool in conjunction with the Winchester Park Dept.

Five members of the Winchester team—Edith Dover, June Moffette, Joy Pray, Anna Murray and June Record—have filed entries for this state crown contention.

In the battling for the men's title of the same event, the field will provide a wide open race. Three Bunker Hill Boys' Club members, John O'Brien, Fed Sullivan and Harry Murphy, have filed, along with Stewart Evans of the Newton YMCA; John Sarson and William Carver, Brockton High School; and Bob McGrath of the Winchester Club.

Shucco KO'd In 7th Round

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (INS)—Swarming over his smaller opponent with football tactics, Pvt. Al Hart, 226-pound soldier from Camp Kilmer, N. J., today held a 7-round T. K. O. over Tony Shucco, veteran Boston heavyweight.

Although Shucco hit the canvas 13 times, Hart scored only two legitimate knockdowns when he clipped the Bostonian in the fourth and seventh rounds with rights to the head. Referee Eddie Lafond stopped the bout after two minutes and 54 seconds of the seventh round.

Hambletonian Raced Today

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 9 (AP)—Yankee Maid, a filly from the farm country of Kansas, seeks to break metropolitan New York's two-year hold o nthe richest stake of the sport long associated with county fairs when she opposes 10 other 3-year-old trotters in the Hambletonian today.

Back to this farming community, where the trotter and pacer have been kings for more than 100 years, the $35,000 stake is expected to attract around 15,000, not far off the attendance when The Ambassador won in 1942 for Bill Strang of New York.

Yankee Maid, a product of Kentucky's blue grass, will carry the hopes of A. L. Derby, an oil man from Wichita, Kan. Champion 2-year-old trotter of 1943 and beaten only by a non-eligible for the Hambletonian in four races this season, the daughter of Volomite is the odds-on choice to take down $18,467.42, the winner's share of the smallest purse in the last seven or eight years.

Consider Four Cities For Army-Navy Tilt

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—Collegiate football's super spectacle, the Army-Navy game, probably will leave the rural hinterlands and come out in its traditional metropolitan setting this year.

No site has been set for the service gridiron classic, scheduled for Dec. 2, but both Army and Navy officials here indicated a favorable attitude today toward proposals for staging the game in Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington or New York.

It's the Navy's "home" game this season, and the choice of a locale will be made by the admirals and lesser lights who run the academy at Annapolis. But the Army, of course, must concur in all arrangements.

NAVY FAVORS CROWD

The Navy always has been in favor of the crowd-luring type of contest, staged in a metropolis. In the year following Pearl Harbor, however, the Army clamped down, as did the Office of Defense Transportation, and ruled the game should be held at either Annapolis or West Point, with attendance restricted to residents of the immediate area.

That meant that instead of the usual crowd of 70,000 or 80,000 fans and the colorful fanfare that normally accompanies such a spectacle, the service game in 1942 and 1943 drew under 18,000 customers. It was held in Annapolis two years ago and at West Point last fall.

Maj. Gen. Alexander D. Surles, the Army's public relations chief, says that the task of arranging the game "is the Navy's pigeon," but hinted that, insofar as he knew, the Army would fall in line with any plans the Navy has for reinstating the contest as a big-time affair.

Freenhalgh, Biggs on Army All-Stars

ABILENE, Tex., Aug. 9 (AP)—Cpl. Bob Freenhalgh, fullback who played freshman football at Notre Dame in 1942, and Pvt. Max Biggs, quarterback whose freshman footballing was at Purdue, were added to the Army Air Forces all-star roster today. The all-stars play the Brooklyn Tigers of the National Professional League here Aug. 26.

McPhail May Buy Yankees

By FRED HOEY

A syndicate headed by Lt. Col. Larry McPhail is endeavoring to buy the New York Yankees from the estate of the late Jake Ruppert. Negotiations have developed to such an extent that Judge Landis, high baseball commissioner, has been asked to investigate and approve of this syndicate.

That the Yankees have been on the market is not news. Ever since the late Jake passed on his brother George, head of the brewery and other members of the Ruppert office family, who inherited the ball club, haven't been too keen to carry on.

It was reported at one time that James A. Farley, former chairman of the Democratic National Committee was to head a syndicate to purchase the Yankees, but this went out the window when a prohibitive price was placed on the club's value.

The fact that Lt. Col. McPhail is mentioned as head of this syndicate reported willing to take over the Yankees, would prove the biggest uplift the American League could obtain if the deal ever were consummated. Larry is the last word in showmanship.

McPhail and his soldier associates missed kidnaping the Kaiser Wilhelm by a matter of five minutes during the last war. Now it looks as though Larry might capture the Yankees, stock, lock and barrel. Here's hoping. Larry is good sport copy.

Dilboy Draws Service Stars

Three fighting teams, representing the U. S. Navy from Quonsett Point, R. I.; the U. S. Army from Ft. Devens and the Sudan A. C. from Dorchester, will be battling it out with a flock of individual strikes for top honors in the George Duboy Post, V. F. W., amateur boxing program tonight at Dilboy Field, Somerville.

Competition will range in all classes from bantamweight to heavyweight with the Quonsett Point tars, headed by New England light-heavyweight champion, Little Chief Haynes, favored to capture its share of the laurels.

New England bantamweight champion Mario Zullo, Chelsea, will be attempting to win a rubber match from Johnnie Geezil, South End, in what should be another swell battle while Frank Perry, son of the former light-heavyweight favorite, George, will be seeking another triumph in the 135's.
